Threat of Ban On U.K. Ships Asserted Hasty

Maritime Council in New York States Eventual Boycott Possible

MONTREAL, July 6 (CP).—The threatened boycott of British ships in East Coast United States ports marked time tonight.

Although Hal C. Banks, international representative of the Seafarers' International Union (A.F.L.), announced earlier in the day in a verbal statement to the press that reprisal action would be taken against British dockers for boycotting Canadian ships, the big Maritime Trades Council in New York said the announcement was "premature."

U.K. Troops To Unload Idle Ships

LONDON, July 6 (CP).—Causing the most immediate concern today among developments in the dock strike crippling the mighty Port of London was a Labor Ministry announcement that troops will be used to unload perishable goods from idle ships.

There was no immediate comment from the dockers' "lockout committee." The dock workers contend they are being locked out because the dock employers have refused to hire longshoremen to work other ships until two Canadian ships are unloaded by the open.

In the House of Commons and beyond, both Government and Opposition spokesmen leveled heavy blows at the "unofficial" strikers. Labor Minister George Isaacs, telling the Commons of the decision to move service personnel on to the docks "without delay" to handle perishable goods, said:

"This is an attempt to hold up the business of this country and we are not going to submit to it."

Fare Increase Question Under Study in Victoria

While he was not prepared to make a statement regarding the possibility that bus fare increases may be sought in the Greater Victoria area, E. W. Arnott, Vancouver Island vice-president of the B.C. Electric Railway Co., declared yesterday that the matter was being studied at the present time.

Mr. Arnott explained that a company announcement on Tuesday, which disclosed that higher transit fares were being sought, applied only to Vancouver.

The company announcement from Vancouver stated that "rising deficits" had forced an application for an increase in street car and bus fares in Vancouver.

A. E. Grauer, president of the B.C.E.R., stated the company had applied to the city of Vancouver and the Public Utilities Commission for elimination of the three-for-25 cents

Favors Union Of Indies, Maritimes

MONTREAL, N.B., July 6 (CP).—Premier Smallwood of Newfoundland said today he favored amalgamation of the three Maritime Provinces, Newfoundland and the British West Indies into a big Canadian province.

Participants in such a union, Mr. Smallwood said, would benefit greatly from the fact that such a new province would constitute a much larger trading area.

He noted that steps are being made towards uniting all British Colonies in the West Indies and said this would be an ideal step towards a wider union later.

Mr. Smallwood, who is visiting Maritime Provinces, said his talks with them encompass "much less ambitious things." Among these subjects were fisheries and transportation problems.

Locusts in South Near Plague Proportions

Migratory grasshoppers, the Western range locust that hatched out this year in tremendous numbers, approached the proportions of a crawling armada and moved over the Nevada line into lush California and Southern Oregon range lands Tuesday. The hoppers, shown above, start migrating at first marching over the ground. Later they take to the air. They have already swept over 3,000 square miles of rich land in Nevada.

BULLETINS

Dock Burns

BANGOR, Me., July 7 (Thursday) (AP).—A fierce waterfront blaze raged out of control early today after laying waste a row of wharf structures two city blocks long.

No official estimate of the loss could be obtained. The Bangor Daily News unofficially estimated it at "close to a million dollars."

Dissatisfaction

LONDON, July 7 (Thursday) (Reuters).—Dissatisfaction at yesterday's statement by Sir Stafford Cripps, Chancellor of the Exchequer, on the drain on gold and dollar reserves in the sterling area was expressed by most sections of the British press this morning.

The Daily Herald, Labor, said "The saving of dollars provides no permanent solution to our problem. It is upon the earning of dollars that we must concentrate our ability and energy."

Plan Centres To Aid Youths

Plans were announced in two big Canadian cities last night for costly centres to deal with the growing problem of keeping boys off the streets in their spare time.

In Montreal, according to The Canadian Press, Publisher J. W. McConnell of The Montreal Star, was reported to have donated $375,000 for construction of a boys' sport and recreation centre in the East End. The project, it was stated, would have facilities for about 2,000 persons.

In Vancouver, the Optimist Club announced plans for erection of a $125,000 boys' centre in the East Hastings district. A donation campaign has been started in connection with this project, which calls for a two-story structure with gymnasium, library, club offices and meeting rooms.

Congregation in Ottawa Claims Priest Pro-Soviet

OTTAWA, July 6 (CP).—The world's ideological headaches were thumping in a new sector today—in Ottawa's little Bukowinian Greek Orthodox Church community that is some 80 members strong.

The priest, Rev. Peter Drabovsk, and some of his Ukrainian-Canadian flock were publicly at loggerheads on issues of his statements, the conduct of parish affairs and the loyalties of the church. The strife almost erupted in blows at Sunday Mass and police were called to restore calm.

EXPRESS "ALARM"

Four members wrote a letter to the press yesterday expressing "alarm at this pro-Russian utterances of our priest and the totalitarian activities of our church committee."

They charged that the committee "doubled the church dues—from 50 cents to $1 a month—arbitrarily without consulting the membership," that a petition from two-thirds of the congregation "demanding a general meeting" over this was rejected by the president and by the

Jap Rail Chief Said Murdered

TOKIO, July 7—(Thursday)—(INS).—Japanese authorities declared today that Sandanori Shimoyama, president of the Government-owned railway system, was murdered, apparently as the climax of Communist-led opposition to a pay-out cutback among rail workers.

Tadaatsu Hori, chief procurator of the Tokyo District Court, said that examination of the body confirms the fact that Shimoyama was dead when run over by a train five miles from downtown Tokyo.

Chigen Sakamoto, chief of the Criminal Investigation Division of the Metropolitan Police, reported his entire detail has launched Japan's biggest postwar probe.

Meanwhile Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida denied that the Government would declare a state of emergency and simultaneously called for the dismissal of the chief of the Japanese rural police.

Yoshida asked Jiro Tsuji, chairman of the National Public Safety Commission, tooust Chief Noboru Saito because of alleged laxness of his forces in curbing left wing extremist disturbances such as those last week in Fukushima province north of Tokyo.

At the same time the national rural police reported that the Prime Minister received a mysterious letter Monday threatening to assassinate Yoshida, the entire Japanese cabinet, all police chiefs and the railway president, Shimoyama.

The letter was signed by the "Red Patriotic Blood Brotherhood" and was written on stationery of the now defunct House of Peers, former upper chamber of the Japanese Parliament. It was mailed from Maebashi, on July 1.

REPORTS PRINTED
Reports that the Government would call a state of emergency to cope with labor unrest were printed in Tokyo newspapers but were denied by the Government.

Chief Cabinet Secretary Kanesichi Maeda, told International News Service that reports the Government is considering the declaration of a state of emergency are "completely false."

SUBJECT TO REVIEW
The action was taken July 5 at an executive council meeting of the C.G.L. which also decided to continue suspension from the council of any representative of the U.E.W. No member of the U.E.W. may sit in on the executive council meetings as long as the suspension remains in force. The suspension is subject to review at any time.

The C.G.L. action stems from a complaint lodged in March, when the Ontario Federation of Labor protested against an editorial referring to federation officers in such terms as "union-splitting" and "war-mongering."

At a meeting March 24 the C.G.L. executive council suspended representatives of the U.E.W. from participation in council meetings, pending investigation.

Further, they said, the priest from the pulpit "praised the Russian Orthodox Church and claimed that it flourished in Russia, Romania, Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia and Poland."

Rev. Mr. Drabovsk replied today by saying he is neither pro-Soviet nor bent on thwarting the will of the majority of his congregation. He said the accusations came from "a handful of Ukrainian Nationalists whose only object is to smear and create trouble."

"I have always attacked the Communist domination of our church in such countries as Romania, Bulgaria and Poland as well as Russia itself. I have repeatedly condemned the Communist action in persecuting Catholics."

The priest said neither he nor the 13-man committee has seen the petition and at any rate, they are clothed with powers to raise dues if they see fit.

State U.K. Orders Will Be Honored

Britain Applies "Brakes"

LONDON, July 6 (CP).—The British Government today announced short-term moves to brake the run on its gold reserve, but stressed it is convinced "real opportunity" exists for solving the long-term difficulties between sterling and dollar areas.

In a long-heralded "crisis" statement to an attentive House of Commons, Sir Stafford Cripps, Chancellor of the Exchequer, made these points:

1. The sterling area's reserves fell from £471,000,000 ($1,884,000,000) last March 31, to £408,000,000 last June 30.

2. To arrest this trend, the Government has ordered a three-month standstill on new dollar spending. This will not affect Britain's current contracts and commitments.

Sir Stafford's statement hinted at possible future austerity.

(Prime Minister Cripps) announced similar restrictions in Australia. Australia will buy only "urgently needed commodities" for dollars.

Sir Stafford said no immediate changes will be made in the quantity of dollar goods released for consumption. But he warned that the economic situation will have to be reviewed after discussions with the United States and the Commonwealth.

"It may then become necessary," he said, "to reduce consumption of certain selected foodstuffs which are primarily drawn from the dollar area and of certain raw materials."

NO DEVALUATION
Without elaborating, he said a "further period of restraint and restriction" may be necessary for the permanent solution of dollar difficulties. But he said the Government has "not the slightest intention" of devaluing the pound, pegged since the war at $4.83 and rumored recently to be shaky.

This statement, given in reply to a question after Sir Stafford finished his speech, brought cheers from the House.

Airliner Safe
After Trouble
Over Atlantic

SHANNON, Ireland, July 7 (Thursday) (INS).—A Pan-American World Airways Stratocruiser with 54 persons reported aboard, including film star Danny Kaye, landed safely early today after earlier reporting engine trouble.

The plane was forced to put back from over the Atlantic on the London to New York run when the pilot discovered one engine of the big plane was not functioning properly.

A state of emergency was proclaimed for a time and fire-fighting and crash landing equipment rushed to the scene.

The pilot of the plane reportedly feathered one propeller to return safely to Shannon.

Poland Cuts Off
Yugoslav Trade

LONDON, July 6 (Reuters).—The Polish Government has ordered a complete stoppage of exports to Yugoslavia, Warsaw radio announced tonight.

Explaining the decision, the announcer said:

"It became obvious in the course of the last months that Yugoslavia did not intend to adhere to her obligations concerning the sending of goods agreed upon and required by Poland."

"Instead, Yugoslavia concentrated on sending non-essential goods such as wine, raisins and other luxuries."

B.C. Lumbermen, Fishermen Sure Goods Will Be Shipped

VANCOUVER, July 6 (CP).—In spite of Sir Stafford Cripps' announcement of sweeping curbs on United Kingdom purchases in the dollar areas, British Columbia lumbermen are confident Britain will honor her contracts here.

Great Britain recently negotiated the purchase of nearly $15,000,000 in fish and lumber from British Columbia and operators expect they will go through.

If they don't, it would constitute a tremendous blow to British Columbia's economy.

The salmon order is for 410,000 cases of this year's catch, valued at $7,150,000.

Said one operator today:

"British representatives and British Columbia lumbermen have signed the contract for this purchase, which is being shipped by E.C.A. funds, and I am sure the fish will be shipped."

RELATIVELY SAFE
The lumber contracts are also relatively assured.

One lumberman pointed out, however, that not all the contracts have yet been signed.

Britain's financial crisis notwithstanding, businessmen here see hope of continued trade with Britain.

They maintain fish and lumber are near-essentials, and recalled Sir Stafford Cripps told Britain purchasing would be made when "national interest" was involved.

NEW YORK, July 6 (AP).—Foreign traders today saw in Britain's latest curb on buying American products another push downhill for the United States' sliding exports.

They also gloomily predicted further losses of world markets by American traders to British traders, who announced a renewed drive to sell more British goods abroad. It came at a time when American-made goods are backing up in the warehouses because of dwindling foreign markets.

Sir Stafford Cripps' announcement that Britain will further cut

Canada Seen as Able To Offer Britain Help

OTTAWA, July 6 (CP).—There was widespread confidence in Government quarters tonight that Canada will be able to help overcome the United Kingdom's economic ills.

Officials declined to speculate on the nature of the help Canada might give, pending holding of the London conference of Commonwealth finance ministers which opens next Wednesday.

Trade officials, while making clear that the situation was grave, felt certain that financial talks among Canada, the United States and the United Kingdom prior to the general conference of Commonwealth finance ministers will lay the groundwork for fruitful Commonwealth talks and for a concerted plan to ease the critical shortage of dollars in the sterling area.

NO ALARM
They felt no alarm for Canada's trade and did not believe Sir Stafford Cripps' announcement of retrenchment would bring any immediate crippling to the traditional trading triangle in which Canada buys more from the U.S. than she sells there and pays for some of the commodities by sales to the United Kingdom.

Canada's exports to the United Kingdom now were "pared to the bone." But even under such circumstances Canada has a favorable trade balance with Britain.

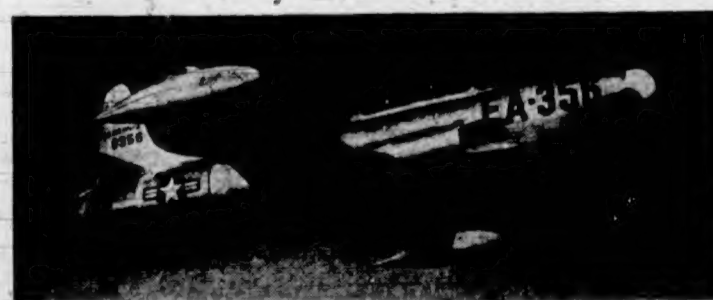

"Less essential manufactured goods likely will have a poor reception in all British Commonwealth countries affected by the decline in the London reserve pool of dollars and gold," said an official.

"But you must remember that the trade situation which exists between Canada and the United Kingdom is different from the situation which exists between Britain and the United States."

"United States imports of British goods have shown a marked decline in recent months, while Canada has been steadily increasing her supplies from the Commonwealth sterling areas."

It appeared to him that if anyone takes the lead in helping the sterling area move goods it should be the United States.

Plane With Eyes That See in the Dark

Capable of flying and fighting in pitch darkness, United States Air Force's new Lockheed F-94 is a two-seater, radar-equipped 24-hour jet night fighter. The plane, designers say, can fly and fight under conditions of weather and visibility that would ground standard jet fighters.

Europe Critical Of Cripps

LONDON, July 6 (Reuters).—Immediate European reaction to Sir Stafford Cripps' financial statement in the House of Commons today showed little surprise at the Chancellor of the Exchequer's blunt refusal to devalue sterling.

French Government sources said they had expected Sir Stafford to "stick to his guns."

French financiers were critical of the "no devaluation" decision, commenting that they had hoped the Chancellor would have taken this opportunity to move towards what they called "greater economic liberalism."

Italian financial quarters commented that whatever the British Government's attitude, sterling is at present over-valued in relation to the lira.

A Copenhagen cable said responsible financial sources there warmly applauded Sir Stafford's "no devaluation" statement.

In Brussels, a high official of the National Bank of Belgium, said "This is Sir Stafford's fatal obstinacy which is bound to prolong economic chaos in Europe."

how much the city manager plan could reduce the tax rate.

According to a study made by the National Municipal League in 1939, of the ten United States cities of more than 50,000 population, with the lowest tax rates, half were council-manager cities.

But the League hastens to add, despite this record, that the tax rate is not the only yardstick of good Government. It is explained that tax rates can be lowered by increasing property valuations, curtailing expenses for important services and borrowing instead of using current revenues to pay for services or improvements.

"NOT GOOD GOVERNMENT"
"A city that keeps taxes down by refusing to provide playgrounds, or by slitting the library system only 26 cents per capita instead of $2.30 or $3, is not an example of good Government," according to the League. "The best measure of efficiency is unit cost of operation."

If it cost $5 to pave a square yard of street one year and only $2 the next year, the taxpayer is at last getting a break. City managers are constantly looking for ways to cut unit costs.

"Slipshod methods of handling money cost the taxpayers countless millions in badly governed cities," the League statement continues.

"Unwise borrowing, unscrupulous methods of tax collection and wasteful purchasing procedures make an enormous difference. Managers usually plug these leaks."

Despite increased expenditures and the consequent leap in the 1949 tax rate Victoria's debt picture is not expertly regarded in such a

Jailed by Reds in Romania

Four of six bishops of Uniate Church in Romania who, according to Vatican sources, have been jailed by Communist-dominated Government in effort to break allegiance to Pope Pius XII. Uniate Church is Romanian branch of Roman Catholic faith. It was dissolved by Romanian Government last December when Red Government demanded that Uniate leaders return to Orthodox Romanian faith. Top left: Mons. Ton Sicuti, Bishop of Mogoșeni; top right, Mons. Alex Răduț, Bishop of Maramureș. Lower left, Mons. Ion Balan, Bishop of Lugoj, and lower right, Mons. ### Hopes Trial Will Prove Tokio Rose Impeded War

SAN FRANCISCO, July 6 (INS).—The Government told today how it will seek to prove that Tokio Rose committed treason against the United States by giving "aid and comfort" to the Japanese enemy.

Thomas de Wolfe, special Government prosecutor at the trial of Mrs. Iva Toguri D'Aquino, listed eight specific acts of treason of which the 32-year-old Nisei defendant is accused.

He declared in his opening statement before an attentive jury in San Francisco Federal Court that the charges stem from the editing and broadcasting of the notorious Tokio Rose scripts over Radio Tokyo.

These broadcasts, he said, sought to undermine the morale of American and other Allied fighting men in the Pacific with exaggerated accounts of Allied losses and reminders that their wives and sweethearts "are running around with 4-P's back home."

The California-born defendant sat quietly at the counsel table while De Wolfe outlined the charges that could mean the death penalty on conviction.

DATES, DETAILS

The prosecutor spoke singly and deliberately while he gave the dates and details of Tokio Rose broadcasts.

De Wolfe insisted that Mrs. D'Aquino is still an American citizen despite her marriage to a Portuguese national of part Japanese ancestry.

The remainder of the day after De Wolfe's statement was given over to introduction of Mrs. D'Aquino's signature and other records into evidence.

Prosecutor De Wolfe, anticipating defence claims that the Nisei woman was trapped in Japan and was forced to do the Government's bidding, said that Mrs. D'Aquino actually sought the position with Radio Tokyo.

He charged that she kept the job because it was glamorous and she liked it," he told the jury.

"She was fully aware of the nature of the psychological warfare in which she was engaged. She cooperated willingly to undermine the morale of our troops."

He accused the husky-voiced broadcaster of saying in one program that "now you boys have lost all your ships and how are you going to get home?"

Asks Devaluing Of U.S. Dollar

PARIS, July 6 (INS).—Former French Premier and Finance Minister, Paul Reynaud, today urged American dollar devaluation through "gold distribution" to help solve what he termed a grave economic crisis in the Western world.

Reynaud told International News Service in an interview that sharp reduction of United States tariff barriers and long-term private American investments overseas also would help European lands sell more goods to the United States and loosen up trade generally.

Informants close to United States Secretary Snyder, who saw Reynaud at a dinner last night, said Snyder is adamantly opposed to devaluing the dollar in any way.

His devaluation, these informants said, would create widespread lack of confidence in the American monetary system.

Field of Current Expenditures Lets City Manager Pull Weight

glimpse light as some taxpayers have it pictured.

In 1939 the total city debt was $13,430,000. Since then the debt has been reduced by annual principal and interest retirement instalments of roughly $250,000 and at the same time increased by borrowing since the end of the World War.

NOT BUDGETED

Total debt outstanding on May 15, 1949, amounted to $12,007,000. Authorized debt was $14,593,000, but debentures in the amount of $2,329,000, but debentures in the amount of $2,329,000, chiefly to permit new school construction, have not yet been issued because of rising construction costs.

Some authorities maintain the city's debt is not burdensome. At the same time they admit that it is a large debt for a city the size of Victoria.

Current capital spending is not seen as contributing disproportionately to the debt, but there is a growing belief that capital expenditures and resultant borrowing may have to be sharply increased in the near future—particularly for schools and roads—if the population continues to increase at the present rate.

DEBTS PROTRACTED

Expert opinion points out that councils at the beginning of this century were largely responsible for the size of the present debt.

A heavy debt was contracted by such councils and protracted over a long period of time, necessitating re-funding during the depression.

A city manager might have been able to supply advice calculated to assist in reducing the debt during the years of the World War.

Because a material and labor shortage existed during the war it was practically impossible for the city to carry out major public works projects or extend civic services.

In 1938 the tax rate stood at 42 mills. In 1945 the rate was again 42 mills. But in the interim, during years when money circulated readily, the mill rate dropped as low as 37 mills.

A feeling existed in some civic quarters at the time that the tax rate should have been left to ride at the 1938 level while economic waters were calm. Such a plan might have been justified if the extra money collected from taxes had been set aside in a reserve fund to be applied on the debt or as a buffer against future spending.

PULL FULL WEIGHT

While this plan of action lay at hand there was no official—such as a city manager—to explore thoroughly its ramifications and perhaps lay out a pattern of advice for taxpayers and City Council to act.

In any event, the question of whether such a plan should have been followed would have been a matter of policy for City Council to determine.

It is in the field of current, controllable expenditures, however, that a city manager would be able to pull his full weight. As executive head of the corporation his word would be law to department heads.

It would be within his individual power to banish forever such spectacles of waste as have occurred in

Sentence Banker To Three-Year Term

NEW YORK, July 6 (INS).—Richard H. Crowe, 41, who embezzled $883,660 in cash and bonds from a branch of the National City Bank, where he was assistant manager, was sentenced to serve three years in prison.

Crowe appeared close to tears as he told Federal Judge Henry W. Goddard: "I'm sorry I did it. I really am. But it's something I did and I pleaded guilty."

The prosecution asked for a sentence of three and a half years. It revealed that $5,950 of the stolen funds still is missing. The F.B.I. found the rest, some with the help of Crowe.

Rookie Warden Held for Death Of Fisherman

CRISFIELD, Md., July 6 (INS).—David Acree, rookie Virginia conservation officer, was arrested today on a Virginia warrant charging him with the "death from the sky" slaying of Earl Nelson, veteran Chesapeake Bay crabber.

The 23-year-old Acree was picked up after he was seen on a boat on the water.

He was accused of murdering Nelson Tuesday after lapping from a scaphite and boarding the victim's boat.

A Maryland warrant also charging Acree with murder was being "withheld" by Virginia authorities until it can be determined whether Nelson was slain in Maryland or Virginia waters.

Bill on Export Of Gas Read

EDMONTON, July 6 (CP).—A special session of the Alberta Legislature tonight gave second reading to the Government's bill on control of export of natural gas.

The second reading came after an afternoon debate in which Premier Manning termed "ridiculous" an Opposition suggestion that the question of gas export be put to a plebiscite.

The Premier said the Government's policy favors gas export but only when the needs of the people have been satisfied.

Greater Victoria Bush Fires Keep Weary Firemen Busy

Bush fires gave fire departments of three municipalities in the Greater Victoria area, a busy time yesterday. Hardest pressed was the Saanich department which called in off-shift crews and sent out all available equipment to fight a stubborn fire back of Ten Mile Point, which repeatedly raged through the tree tops and started multiple blazes in the area.

The Saanich firefighters had over 10,000 feet of hose in action in an effort to bring the dangerous blaze under control. They were continually hampered in their efforts by a strong wind which whipped over the high ground on which the fire was burning and sent showers of sparks into the highly inflammable tree tops.

Two crews stood by all night after the fire was thought quelled around 9 p.m. Remaining crews were on call at the station.

The fire was a continuation of the outbreak at 9 p.m. Tuesday which kept weary crews on the job all Tuesday night.

Firefighters reported last night that the fire had been ringed in to guard expensive homes further down the slope.

Saanich police were reported to have investigated in the area yesterday afternoon for possible traces of incendiary.

Oak Bay fire department also had its troubles with grass fires breaking out on Westwinds Road yesterday morning and another blaze at Victoria Golf Club at 7 p.m.

Victoria fire department was called out to quell a dangerous bush fire on Goulish Hill. Firemen also extinguished a blaze at 916 Market Street where a shed was damaged as a result of a grass fire.

"TOO STRINGENT"

C. S. Goode, who described himself as a trade visitor to the city, complained to Mayor George in a letter received at City Hall yesterday that minor traffic regulations were being enforced too stringently.

Mr. Goode stated that he had been fined $2.50 for parking 45 seconds two feet out from the curb.

He claimed stringent enforcement of minor regulations would hurt the tourist trade in Victoria. He asked that in future "a slight margin of common sense" be given by the police in such cases.

TO OPEN TENDERS

Saanich Council will meet tonight to open tenders for construction work on the new road program, approved last year by the ratepayers.

PLAN PICNIC

Members of the 21st Alberta Battalion Association will meet at the home of A. B. McIlvride, 2934 Orilla Street, at 8 p.m. Friday to discuss arrangements for the annual picnic on August 7. Those with automobiles have been requested to gather at the intersection of Broad and View Streets not later than 7:45 p.m. on the night of the meeting.

TO USE LOUDSPEAKER

A horn-type loudspeaker has been installed at Central Park for the benefit of participants in the "Dancing on the Green" classes currently sponsored by the Y.M.C.A. and the park board.

Dancing is from 9 to 10:30 p.m. every Thursday at the park.

BUS-CAR CRASH

An aggregate damage of $100 was caused to a B.C. Electric bus and an American tourist's car in a collision on Yates Street just east of Douglas Street yesterday morning.

Police said this car was driven by Harold E. Partridge of San Francisco, and the bus was operated by George Earl, 2187 Spring Road.

Funeral services will be held here Friday for Thorston K. Anderson, Iceland-born Victoria resident who died at Royal Jubilee Hospital Tuesday.

Mr. Anderson had lived in Victoria for 59 years. He was 85 years old.

VISITOR ROBBED

Trades Council Will Ask Investigation of Camp

The Victoria Trades and Labor Council will ask the local Council chapter that a family of 11 persons to investigate conditions at Tye emergency housing camp, the walls of which do not reach the "to ascertain whether the Trades and Labor Council was justified" in protesting recent rent increases.

This was decided at a Trades and Labor Council meeting last night following a report by Secretary of the hut.

Mayor George told the labor delegation that rents at the camp had not been raised. Mr. Raymond said, however, the mayor said last night that he had been reported incorrectly by a local newspaper.

What he had said, Mr. George testified in the housing problem at continued, was that evicted families had been placed in the camp under a temporary arrangement.

Rents were being collected in only three of the 14 bungalows and had been increased recently from $20 to $23 a month.

"We are not trying to hide anything from them and Mrs. Mutrie will give them all the facts."

Want Race Track Closed To Old-Car Speedsters

With all fences removed from the old Willows race track, young "hot rod" motorists are trying the track out. Oak Bay Police Chief H. C. F. Reston informed the council last night.

He said an old model car turned over on the back stretch Tuesday night, but occupants of the car were uninjured. The accident occurred when the car struck a hole in the track, the chief stated.

Police are receiving complaints of the dust and the danger, according to Chief Reston, who said his department is kept busy chasing the young drivers off the track. He asked that the track be blocked off to prevent its use by motorists.

Councillor George Murdoch asked for immediate action "before someone is killed," and Councillor R. B.

Wilson suggested cutting furrows in the track. Council referred the complaint to A. S. G. Musgrave, municipal engineer, for action.

PUBLIC HEARING

No opposition was expressed at a public hearing on an amendment to the Uplands Regulation By-Law, calling for a minimum floor area of 1,400 square feet for a one-story dwelling, 1,200 for a 1½-story dwelling and 1,800 for each story of a two-story house.

Former Reeve Walter M. Walker spoke in support of the amendment, stating that it was to the advantage of property owners in the Uplands.

SIGN BY-LAW

A. D. Findlay, municipal clerk, and F. K. Cunningham, building inspector, were instructed by council to draw up a draft sign by-law, which will regulate the size and installation of signs in Oak Bay.

OPPOSITION VOICED

Councillor Murdoch stated his objection to telephone mileage charges levied against Oak Bay residents. He made the statement after council was informed of the proposed increase in telephone rates. The letter was tabled until the next meeting.

SUNDAY BUILDERS

Chief Reston will be instructed to investigate complaints of noises made by Sunday builders in the municipality. Councillor Wilson told the council he has received several complaints of this nature.

TURN OVER PROJECT

Council have been invited to a dinner of the Oak Bay Kiwanis Club at 8:15 p.m. today, after which the group will proceed to Willows Park where the new pavilion, constructed by the club, will be officially turned over to the municipality. The public is invited to the park ceremony expected to take place about 7:30 p.m.

TAX COLLECTIONS

Tax collections percentage in the municipality to June 30 were slightly lower than in the same period last year. Sum of $408,326 ($1212 per cent.) in current taxes has been collected. For the same period last year, $2,561 per cent was collected. Total taxes collected to date amount to $419,980 of an estimated $446,000.

Two Men Deny Guilt In Stabbing

PORT ALBERNI, July 6.—Patrick John Grean and Mike Chokan, Seamen's International Union, crewmen of the Ss. Triland, pleaded not guilty here today before Magistrate T. Patterson to a charge of "wounding with intent to bodily harm by stabbing with a knife."

The trial arose out of a small riot which took place here June 28 when Harry Smith, Harold Kirkham and John Saunders, crew members of the Ss. Lake Canim were stabbed.

STILL IN HOSPITAL

Smith, seriously wounded in the fracas, is still in hospital. Kirkham and Saunders gave testimony in court today.

The three are members of the rival Canadian Seamen's Union.

Grean and Chokan have been held in custody since their arrest with bail set at $5,000. They are being defended by H. E. Husser.

Three other crew members of the Lake Canim, Robert Lanford, John Davidson and Clement Petrie, are being held as material witnesses. Another witness, Donald MacAllister of Alberni, was released earlier on his own recognizance.

It is expected that the trial will end tomorrow.

Mrs. N. Manson Heads Nanaimo Job's Daughters

NANAIMO, July 6.—Institution of the first Bethel of Job's Daughters took place in Nanaimo on Tuesday when 27 candidates were installed by Grand Council officers from Vancouver, assisted by officers of Bethel No. 6, Courtenay.

Mrs. Nellie Manson is guardian of the new Bethel. Mr. Joseph Dickerson, associate guardian; Mrs. Jane King, guardian secretary; Mrs. Betty Nash, guardian treasurer; Mrs. Alta Taylor, director of music.

Grand Council officers from Vancouver included Mrs. Emily Maxwell, grand guardian.

Municipal Departments Investigated

A special committee, headed by Councillor Kenneth R. Genn, is in the process of investigating the efficiency of all departments of the Saanich-Municipal Hall.

The committee was appointed recently by Reeve E. C. Warren after complaints that some departments were over-staffed. Other committee members were Councillors George Austin, John Ryan and Leslie H. Pasmore.

Departmental heads have been asked for reports on the work of all employees in an endeavor to get a clear picture of duties of the entire staff. There is a possibility the committee may personally investigate instead of having department heads make reports.

Councillor Genn is expected to call another meeting of his committee soon.

Former Resident Of Alberta Dies

Trades Licence Increases Unevenly Spread

ANYONE who had studied the course of municipal finance over the last few years would know that British Columbia cities would be driven to seek more revenue, since Federal and Provincial Governments continue to take two-thirds of the taxation available in the same centres. Characteristically, when the Province imposed the 3 per cent sales tax it gave one-third to the municipalities but retained two-thirds for itself; later telling the cities to use the business tax or other means to make up their needs. So it need surprise no one that Victoria has been driven to a search for more revenues.

The timing is another matter. The City has not been exactly fortunate in that. A considerable increase in the property assessment, and a decided jump in the mill rate have this year placed an appreciable extra burden on the property owners. It was a foregone conclusion that the City would also seek some relief from non-property owners, such as trades licences and others, who, while their businesses may be in town, live elsewhere. The City itself has said it was either that or the use of the business tax.

Where the City does appear to have made some mistake is in the unevenness of the now authorized trades licence increases, and the suddenness of the move without prior public discussion. It is not quite fair to say blandly that "It is done," when the thing done may be inequitable. The theatres, for instance, were already under the disability of a 25 per cent amusement tax. Fledgling barristers should not be charged the same rates as multi-counsel legal offices. Doctors and dentists also serve the community. The City may need the $50,000 the increases involve; but there is inequity in the means of collection.

Phone Rate Scheme Needs Clarification

SUBSCRIBERS of the British Columbia Telephone Company should not have been taken by surprise when the company filed an application for authority to raise its rates. For some time the company had been preparing the public for this, using as its main argument for additional revenue the familiar one of increased costs. That is the submission which has won for other utilities a succession of increases in recent years, in contrast to the Telephone Company, which has not had a general increase in rates since 1921.

What the public was not prepared for, however, was the method by which the company would seek to swell its income. Unlike other corporations in the utility group, the Telephone Company is not asking for a percentage increase in existing charges. Instead it seeks to set up an entirely new structure, based on a rating of exchanges according to the business they handle, but in inverse ratio to that usually applied. In the reorganization, a majority of subscribers would pay more, but in a few instances the effect would be to reduce present fees.

It may be that this is a more equitable system; but it is hard for users to gauge the merits of the plan on the meagre explanation published by the company. It is not enough to say, for example, that the unit cost of telephone goes up as the business of an exchange expands. That is contrary to experience in other services, and the public should be told why it applies to telephones. Why, also, is it necessary in Victoria to raise the rate on a two-party line by $9.60 a year while that for an individual connection, with all its advantages, goes by only $5.40?

In theory the detailed submissions of the company are open to inspection by any member of the public, and in theory anyone can go to Ottawa and be heard on the application. In practice, of course, few individuals could take that legal opportunity when the hearings are at so great a distance. It is a good thing, therefore, that municipal authorities are taking steps to watch the public interest there.

New Garden Plan Is Happy Gesture

THE Spring Garden Week was such a success it was perhaps not surprising it should give rise to a desire for private gardens to be open to visitors throughout the summer months if this could be arranged. Through the generosity of interested home owners this has come to pass, and for the next three months some of this city's finest gardens will be open twice a week for the benefit of garden lovers.

Now that Victoria has adopted the name of "City of Gardens," this gesture will give it reality and undoubtedly will bring a great deal of pleasure to many visitors. This is indeed a garden city. A casual walk almost anywhere will show how devotedly most people attend to their grounds. Hitherto, except for the special week in Spring, the gardens have been mainly for the enjoyment of their owners. That is right and proper. Such owners as are co-operating in the new plan are to be commended on their willingness to share their gardens with others in this unselfish fashion.

The plan is sure to become popular, and it will add considerably to the amenities provided for tourists and others to whom a garden is one of the delights of daily life. Associated as it is with the Community Chest, the small admission charge means that in enjoying Victoria gardens visitors will be contributing to the welfare of those in need. The combination is a happy one, and the venture deserves to have wide success. It is bound to react favorably to the credit of Victoria.

REBATE OR INCREASE

Sir,—In today's paper it is stated that the Equimall Council became the first in Greater Victoria to oppose any increase in telephone rates.

It is now time for the old subscribers to object to any increase of rates on telephones. Has it ever occurred to them that they originally applied for and paid to have a private line to their home?

During the past few years applications from new subscribers have been so great that the company could not accommodate them. Without notice, the company tapped in the additional subscribers on to many private lines, making them only party lines; this must have been a great financial benefit to the company and benefited hundreds of new subscribers who now pay the standard rate. I think it would be only fair that the old subscribers get a rebate instead of an increase in rate.

COUNCIL-MANAGER PLAN

Sir,—As a citizen taxpayer of Victoria, I wish to congratulate you on featuring the argument for the strong council-manager type of administration of civic affairs before it is too late to stem the reaction that will involve our city in serious difficulty again.

Quoting from the Dominion Bureau of Statistics: "Commercial failures have been steadily rising in Canada since 1946, and the latest survey shows that the trend is still continuing in 1949 when, in the first three months of the year, there were 270 defaulting businesses, which was the largest number since 1941 for three months and represented the largest amount of financial loss for a similar period since 1934, when Canada was climbing out of the great depression." This list of commercial failures indicates a trend that should be seriously considered, I believe, and should be heeded by everyone interested in the welfare of our city.

I trust that my interest in this matter will not be misunderstood, as I feel no personal political ambitions again; but during my ten years on the city council I gave great study to and strongly advocated the council-manager system which has proved the financial salvation of scores of cities throughout North America.

I apprehend that halfway or compromise measures would not succeed, but only provide an excuse for delay. The selection of a high-grade administrator should be made from a source that would be free to act without being swayed by local associations or friends.

Thinking Aloud

of shoes and ships and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings.

By TOM TAYLOR

WHEN Prime Minister St. Laurent peeled off his coat at a warm campaign meeting in Ontario not long before election day, a reporter with a discerning eye for inconsequential detail noted that the P.M. wore both belt and braces.

Mr. St. Laurent, wise man, was taking no chances.

Nor, perhaps, was the matter inconsequential. Least of all persons can a prime minister afford a sartorial sensation of the embarrassing variety. One wonders, though, if the double harness indicates a temperament addicted to two things: a bow—not a bad principle at that.

And as an election adjunct both belt and braces seem to have paid off.

Not every man, I fancy, doubles up on trouser security. Some there are who risk fame and fortune by wearing neither; either because the waistline is waip-like and the trouser band snugly tightens over the hip-bones, or because no waistline exists and there is so much avoirdupois to expand the trouser top that reinforcement is unnecessary.

To belt or not to belt is a matter of some moment, and of taste. When you are all dressed up complete with vest, braces—or galluses or suspenders, they are three in one—perhaps the ideal form of pulley, enabling the trouser leg to hang in a neat straight line. In informal array, however, they have been until recent years rather anti-social. Now, as the Prime Minister has demonstrated, a man may keep his caste and yet display his braces.

Pant suspenders, not to be confused with sock supports of the same terminology, can be irksome, however, making you feel stuffy even if you don't look it. Undoubtedly it is the greater sense of ease that a belt induces that has given it such wide popularity, as well as adding respectability to the appearance when the coat is shed. The precise stage of undress is the same once the coat is off, but even yet, and despite prime ministers, there are males who would as lief be bereft of pants as appear in public with their galluses showing.

The one big drawback to a belt when worn as the sole trouser support is that it does not prevent sagging, and the sag has a mortifying bent for appearing at the least propitious part of the anatomy. As a result, if such matters touch the raw of your pride, you have to keep hoisting the trousers back into position every so often. That is a nuisance. As one observer said of Mr. St. Laurent's braces, the Prime Minister was too busy during the election campaign to be pulling up his pants every two minutes.

This hitching business can become a fixation. I remember one lad, who never wore braces who was a fine right-winger so long as he remembered there was no chance of his elastic-topped soccer shorts falling down. He had a most exasperating habit of stopping to pull up his briefs just before he crossed a ball, and time and again the pause was fatal, for opposing players quickly seized the chance to block his kick. In hopeful desperation his playing mates finally clubbed together to buy him a pair of suspenders.

Like most males, this column has tried both braces and belt, although never at one and the same time. It has not yet emerged in a definitive edition, being swayed in this sartorial respect like a wind-blown bob, as well as dependent on the nature of the other habillaments chosen for wear.

I trust that the P.M.'s preference does not become catching; however, unless it was merely a temporary precaution and now that the election is over he has gone back solely to braces. I should think would be his normal choice. But for all you know the belt plus the galluses might have been, not precaution but election bait, a touch of homespun democracy in action. Just fancy if the new Government of Canada owes its existence to a pair of braces!

That would explain a lot, for somehow I cannot imagine Mr. Drew displaying his galluses, which if handy to have hitched to a pair of pants have decidedly no glamour whatsoever.

Is This a Red Scare?

By RAYMOND MOLEY

NEW YORK—A good deal of serious discussion is going on in the editorial offices of magazines and newspapers of the United States about what some people call a "Red scare," and what others, more sympathetically, call a national awakening to the danger of traitors in our midst. Editors generally are moved by two often conflicting compulsions. One is to provide news and comment that will interest readers. The other is to be sure that the news and comment they publish are sound and good for the country and the community.

There are some who now feel that too much prominence has been given to the various manifestations of Communism and Communist sympathy, and that it is time to pipe down. Others are convinced that more and more publicity is needed, because people generally are not sufficiently aroused to the danger in our midst. There are others who feel that the public still avidly consumes news of trials, investigations and probes and that, in a competitive field, they must continue to play it up.

There is no apparatus to determine a final answer to these questions. No one knows whether the public is more or less interested in Communism than it was a year ago. The presentation of printed copy to the public is still a matter of trial and error. A good sense of proportion is about all that can determine what to print.

Outside the publishing business there is criticism, notably among professors and welfare workers, that the press of the United States has overplayed domestic news of Communism. This criticism has been rising rapidly since legislative committees in various states have been looking into subversive influences in schools. Sharp disagreement has been noted concerning efforts to impose loyalty oaths upon faculty people. Some of this protest seems to be highly theoretical, but it is more or less sincere.

As talk of war and of the danger of war subsidies, these protests will be more freely made and they will elicit more and more sympathy. Recent developments in Europe have generally been favorable to peace. All this will have an effect upon our fear of subversive influences at home.

There is a danger, however, and a very real one, that after current trials and investigations are ended, a serious reaction may come. People will feel, since they have survived these real and unreal threats that they may again become completely indifferent to the issues that have been raised. Public officials may again assume the carelessness that permitted so much disloyalty to invade public service. For the truth is that the infection of Communism has invaded our Government and our schools. Regardless of the outcome of present trials and investigations, enough has been revealed to keep us forever on the alert.

Freedom of teaching does not mean the right of publicly supported teachers to engage in propagating subversive doctrines. And in critical spots in our Government there should be no half-loyalties.

Excessive attention to Communism and subversive activities over the past two years has done us no real harm, unless, as is noted above, it results in a reaction of excessive indifference. What we have witnessed has certainly been no mere "Red scare."

For New Canadians

(From The Scene From Shingwauk Farm)

IMAGINE the plight of Canadians who might try to begin life anew in a foreign country without knowledge of the language, and you have an inkling of the tremendous difficulties New Canadians, who came here as Displaced Persons, have in beginning a new life among us.

Recently four young New Canadians from one of the Baltic States gave us an interesting and delightful evening. A friend who is getting great enjoyment out of his interest in New Canadians in his community, brought these five young people to Shingwauk Farm.

They were bright, intelligent, well-poised and keenly interested in working out a constructive future for themselves as good Canadians. Their experiences with both Russian and German armies of occupation at the tide of war ebbed and flowed over their own country, as slave labor in Germany, and in the Displaced Persons Camps, were bitter, but they did not embitter them.

Having completed a year in the assigned work which they undertook, they now wish to follow the careers they began at home, in which they can be most useful to themselves and to Canada.

One of them was within a few weeks of graduation in science, another had completed a matriculation course, and the others had high school training, when they were taken from their homes to Germany. Before they can become most useful here, they must acquire a working knowledge of English, but there is no place in this district where they can be taught. They have done well in picking up conversational English, but they cannot pursue their studies until they learn the language better.

Surely the educational authorities of the provinces of Canada can provide night classes for New Canadians wherever they may be situated. These earnest, industrious new citizens should be enabled to expand their capabilities as quickly as possible.

A widow visited a spiritualist medium who satisfactorily produced the deceased husband.

"Dear John," the widow questioned eagerly, "are you happy?"

"I am very happy," the spook assured her.

"Happier than you were on earth with me?" the widow asked.

"Yes," John asserted, "I am happier now."

"Oh, do tell me, John," the widow cried, "what is it like in Heaven?"

"Heaven!" the spook snapped, "I ain't in Heaven."

A few years ago, the late Tom Lamont, a senior partner in J. P. Morgan & Co., dropped into the little church where he had worshipped as a boy and listened unnoticed while the preacher solicited funds to patch the leaking roof. "O Lord, send us succor," was his plea.

When the plate was passed, Mr. Lamont dropped a bill into it. When the preacher saw it, he smiled happily, and announced, "The sucker has been provided."

"The great men are all dead," she said with evident regret.

"But the beautiful women are not," he replied, looking earnestly at her.

"Of course," she added, after a moment's reflection. "I always except present company."

"So do I," he said.

Observation Car: By G. R.

HOW'S chances to drive me to Royal Oak this afternoon?" "Got your car here?" "What about going out to see his speedboat races?" Owners of automobiles frequently hear similar requests from friends and acquaintances who are not fortunate enough to possess their own means of transportation. The ride-cadgers never offer to provide a gallon or two of gasoline or a pint of oil. They do not stop to think that an automobile requires tires, gasoline, oil, greasing, licence plates, insurance, general maintenance work and costly periodical overhauls. Every mile that it travels costs the owner something; but that thought never enters the minds of ride-cadgers. An extreme case was that of a Fairfield resident with a 12-year-old car. He ran into a lot of mechanical troubles last year and, on going over bills for maintenance, repairs and fuel, found his machine had cost exactly 20 cents per mile to operate. . . . From The Brandon Sun: "Many parents who have trouble teaching their children to obey are guilty of bribery and coaxing. Parents should never bribe or coax a child to do what he is told. This is bad, because the child should learn that obedience is his own important contribution to the well-being of the family. If parents use bribery, the child will soon realize that he can bargain with them. The coaxing method is an admission of weakness, and is an unfair appeal to the child's sympathy. He will soon tire of it." . . . "I hear you sold that young pig," the Keating Equine said to a farmer in his district. "I sold it to a city butcher yesterday," the farmer replied. "How much did you get?" the equine asked. "I got $15," the farmer answered. "What did it cost to raise?" the equine inquired. "I bought it for $6, and the feed cost $9," the farmer explained. "You didn't make much, but at least you had the pleasure of its company all Spring," the equine chuckled.

The Packsack

By GREGORY CLARK

THE worst feature of a poor meal in a restaurant is that it cheats you out of a good meal. You have to start to eat it before you discover it is poor. And having started, you feel under some sort of contract to go ahead with it. Few of us any more are old-fashioned and snort enough to create a scene by shoving our dinner away from us, refusing to pay the check and stomping out of the restaurant.

But, actually, there is no contract. It might do our modern commercial restaurant trade some good if a few Victorians or Edwardians among us staged the odd scene. The production of cooked vittles has become industrialized, standardized, commercialized. Food tastes pretty much the same in every eating place along the street, from the big hotel down to the lunch counter. Even the self-styled epicure restaurants find it unprofitable to stray too far away from the standardized flavors, seasonings and styles of cooking thoroughly established by their less pretentious rivals up and down the street. It is undoubtedly our own fault. We take on a tankful of food the way we take on a tankful of gas for the car. Drive in, and holler "fill 'er up!" And perhaps often than once in five times, we hit a bad one. We would raise a pretty row if we got a bad tankful of gas.

In one of our largest cities the other evening I entered an attractive-looking restaurant which advertised sea food prominently on its facade. I ordered a shrimp salad. When it came it was a most imposing spectacle. You might think an advertising agency had designed it. It looked like a shrimp salad out of the color pages of one of the slick magazines.

It consisted of a great crisp haystack of finely shredded cabbage and lettuce; a firm, cold, compact scoop of potato salad; long fingers of carrot; a chastely chiselled dill pickle; Greek cornices of lettuce; and pecky-weeky in the middle, five miserable, cowering little shrimps. Like a fool, I ate it.

Making Rain in South Alberta Sugar Beet Fields

Sprinkler irrigation, as it is known, has brought revolution in irrigation practice in South Alberta's 500,000-acre irrigation block this year. Here on Harris farm at Taber three-quarters of mile of aluminum pipe spreads water on five acres at each setting of pipe. It rains half an inch an hour, and farmer can apply just as much as he likes, usually two to three inches at each setting. More than 100 such settings have been bought by irrigation farmers this year. They proved invaluable in germinating sugar beets and canning crops in dry Spring. System above is operated by electrically-driven pump but most farmers use pumps operated by farm tractors.

Str Thomas Assails Music in Britain

HASTINGS, England, July 6 (CP).—Dagger-bearded Sir Thomas Beecham is on the warpath again. Music in Britain, he told a Mosley-Beecham Festival banquet, has "gone down to about the rock-bottom condition of barbarism."

"We have every-day new impresarios, each one more fantastic than the last. We have a new orchestra every day, each one pronounced to be the best in the world. We have new conductors of whom no one has ever heard, and we have about five times as many orchestras as the community can support."

Co-operation On Atom Bomb Said Complete

WASHINGTON, July 6 (CP).—Dr Robert P. Bacher, top-flight United States scientist, today said co-operation between the United States, Canada and Britain on the atomic project was "quite complete."

Canada was closely associated with the development of atomic piles, or furnaces, at Chicago, he said.

Bacher, a former member of the Atomic Energy Commission and now at the California Institute of Technology, testified on behalf of the commission before the Joint Senate-House atomic committee. It is investigating charges of "incredible mismanagement" made against the commission by Senator Bourke Hickenlooper (Rep. Iowa).

NO QUESTION OF AID

"There is no question" but that Canada and Britain assisted materially in atomic development in the United States, Bacher said in reply to a question by Representative Henry Jackson (Dem. Wash.). Bacher also predicted that Britain will be successful in producing atomic weapons.

Jackson raised the question about the production of atomic energy in other countries. Bacher said that how fast other countries move in the atomic field depends upon "how vigorously they pursue their atomic project."

LONG STEPS BETWEEN

But, he observed, it is a "long step" between the production of fissionable materials and the production of the first atomic bomb, and another "long step" between producing one bomb and producing them in quantities.

Mine Workers Appeal Fine

WASHINGTON, July 6 (INS).—John L. Lewis and his United Mine Workers today appealed to the Supreme Court the $1,425,000 contempt of court fine imposed on them in the 1945 coal strike.

Lewis and the union argued that the "back to work" order which was disobeyed was issued by the United States District Court under an unconstitutional provision of the Taft-Hartley law.

Hiss' Counsel Launches Attack On Chambers in Final Argument

NEW YORK, July 6 (INS).—Defense Attorney Lloyd Paul Stryker delivered a scathing last-minute attack today on Whitaker Chambers, Chief Government witness in the Alger Hiss perjury trial, and tried to show that Henry Julian Wadleigh—not Hiss—gave Government secrets to Chambers.

Stryker's summation of the case, scheduled to be completed tomorrow, bristled with condemnations of ex-Communist Chambers. He branded Chambers a "liar" and questioned his mental stability.

Federal Judge Samuel H. Kaufman announced that Stryker will be given one more hour tomorrow to complete his summation. Then the prosecutor, Assistant United States Attorney Thomas F. Murphy, will make his final argument.

Later Judge Kaufman will give the case to the jury of ten men and two women.

Stryker was as bitter in his description of Wadleigh, former State Department employee named by Chambers as "one of his five 'sources' of Government secrets, as he was of Chambers. Stryker said to the jury:

"You saw that abysmal, abject specimen of mankind when he testified here. I didn't leave the

Cutter Leads Pacific Race

LOS ANGELES, July 6 (INS).—Charles Winman's cutter Petrolia from the San Francisco Yacht Club held a slight lead today in the trans-Pacific yacht race to Honolulu.

Closely behind at the 300-mile mark was the Morning Star from the Los Angeles Yacht Club.

FIELD DIVIDED

The Morning Star, monitor ship for the 23-yacht fleet, reported that the field was divided into two groups — those which were fortunate enough to clear San Clemente and Catalina Islands, and those which were caught in the coastal calms.

Among the latter group was the Australian entry, the Kurrawa III. After getting off to a very bad start, the Kurrawa continued in bad luck. It was reported little more than 70 miles away from the California coast at 3 p.m. (P.S.T.) today.

NECK AND NECK

Running in third place behind the neck-and-neck fight between the Petrolia and Morning Star is the Seattle Yacht Club's yawl, Westward Ho.

In its daily message the Morning Star said the Lananka, of the Golden Gate Yacht Club, reported its batteries are nearly dead and its generators are gone. The weather, the Morning Star added, is "generally bad with overcast skies."

Death of Indian Woman Explained by Young Son

LILLOOET, B.C., July 6 (CP).—The mystery death of Mrs. William Thom, 45-year-old Indian mother of 13 children, was solved today by police investigators.

First reports from the isolated Indian reserve, ten miles to the north of here, said the woman had been murdered, but after hours of investigation police found she had been accidentally killed by her ten-year-old son, Francis.

Mrs. Thom, known as the "Gold" 150 miles northeast of Vancouver, died in her bed, shot through the head as her son lifted a rifle to a wall rack.

He was terrified, said the police report, and made up a story of murder, telling of a strange man shooting his mother.

Mrs. Thom was a wealthy member of the tribe, and is reported to have had $5,000 in her home for purchase of a farm. She made her money panning gold along the Fraser River.

The grief-stricken boy ran six miles to a ranch where his father was working to report the mother's death. He told a story of the strange man entering his home early Tuesday and firing the fatal shot. The father notified police.

Today, Francis told the true story. He admitted the .22 calibre rifle discharged as he hung it on a pair of horns above his mother's bed.

REPORT ORDERED

Young Francis was at his home on the reserve today while police prepared a report for a coroner's inquest.

For years, Mrs. Thom panned for gold along the shores and on river sandbars. Her one ambition was to buy a farm away from the reserve.

Interview With General Chen Shows Shake-Up Planned for Chinese Army

By HOWARD HANDLEMAN (EXCLUSIVE)
TAIPEH, Formosa, July 6 (INS)—China's summer Nationalist Army is being streamlined and dead-wood eliminated "from generals to privates" as the first move in Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's new program to beat the Chinese Communists.

Plans for the sweeping shakeup to convert the large Nationalist Army into smaller, more efficient and better-trained combat units were revealed exclusively today to this correspondent by Gen. Chen Cheng, Governor of Taiwan (Formosa). Chen is regarded as Nationalist China's No. 2 military leader, second only to the Generalissimo himself.

TRAINED BY U.S.
The drastic reorganization to provide the Nationalists with modern task forces able to take the offensive effectively and score military gains against the Chinese Communist Army will have the aid of a top Chinese strategist trained in U.S. warfare techniques.

Chen outlined the program soon after Generalissimo Chiang, in an exclusive interview with this correspondent and another American newsmen, expressed conviction that the Communists can be beaten in China if timely and effective aid is received from the United States.

The Generalissimo warned at the time that if the Communists conquer China, they will swarm all over Asia and make a third world war inevitable.

CLEAN OUT DEAD WOOD
Gen. Chen said the shake-up, apparently drafted at a recent series of conferences between Chiang and Nationalist leaders, will clean out deadwood "from generals down to privates."

The Formosa governor said that the best elements of various units are being combined into crack new outfits to carry the war to the Communists.

Interior elements are being given new courses of rigorous training. To facilitate this task, several major training stations already are operating. The most important one is in the centre of Formosa, where Lieut.-Gen. Sun Li-jen, a graduate of Purdue and Virginia Military Institute, is drilling an estimated 300,000 crack troops.

SEVERAL NEW BASES
The Nationalist Army is creating several major offensive bases in East, South and Northwest Formosa, adding that island is their most important East China bulwark.

The general said that the reorganization policy is new, but refused to elaborate.

Chen, former war minister and chief of staff of the Nationalist army, stressed the ideological accomplishment of the struggle in China will know whose way is the better one.

Both we and the Communists claim that our ways provide a better life. So the people are unable to choose between claims alone.

We must convince them by our deeds for the people's livelihood and the people lost their will to fight. We are striving on Formosa and in other provinces to show the people that our (Nationalist) party will meet their needs.

Gen. Chen said that his plans are to make Formosa, or Taiwan, a "model province," proving that Nationalist doctrines open the way to equalized division of wealth.

But he added, that the island's economy has been upset by the influx of more than a million refugees during the last year. The normal population is six million. In addition to the refugees, Formosa has had to absorb several hundred thousand soldiers.

The general said: "Neither weapons nor oceans are enough in themselves to safeguard Formosa from the Communist idea."

PROVE WAY BETTER
We must prove that our way is better. Therefore, we are exerting every effort to improve the living conditions of the people.

Strike Seen as U.S. Steel Rejects Workers' Fourth Round Pay Demands

PITTSBURGH, July 6 (AP).—The United States Steel Corporation today turned down the U.S. Steelworkers' fourth-round wage demands and the union's reaction raised the possibility of a strike.

In a statement signed by President Benjamin Fairless, "Big Steel" stated there is "no sound or proper justification for granting a wage increase at this time."

The company did offer a social insurance program amounting to two-and-a-half cents an hour, which union President Philip Murray termed "niggardly."

However, it appeared possible a strike will occur July 13 if the deadline is not broken. The wage agreement under the present contract expires at that time, and union locals have been alerted to strike if no settlement has been reached.

DEMAND NOT DISCLOSED

The union's wage demands have not been revealed by the negotiators. Social insurance and pension demands were reported to total more than 20 cents per hour per U.S. Steel, who read Fairless statement to the negotiators, said the company is ready to continue discussions with the union only on the basis laid down by the firm.

Murray answered heatedly: "He therefore negates collective bargaining. The conference is deadlocked. There is no indication as to the future course the United Steelworkers will take."

Negotiations resumed in Pittsburgh today after a two-week recess. Three hours later, the session broke up with no date set for continuation of the talks.

Sons of Freedom End Hunger Strike

VANCOUVER, July 6 (CP).—An eight-day hunger strike by five radical Doukhobors charged with arson has been ended.

The five men, Peter Swet-lahoff, W. O. Konklin, Mike Bridenkov, Alex Detchkov and Anton Kolesnikoff, now are in Oakalla Prison Farm pending trial at Fall Assizes.

Declaring that their sect, the Sons of Freedom, had forsaken them, the five suspected arsonists called the strike off while traveling on the train from Nelson to Oakalla, police reported today.

Legality of Dismissed Appeal To Decide Fate of Alleged Spy

WINNIPEG, July 6 (CP).—Chief Justice W. K. Williams of the Court of King's Bench said today the deportation of Dimitry Leshchenko, alleged Communist spy and former Soviet army officer, hinges on the legality of a dismissed appeal, effected on a Sunday.

P. O. Duval, counsel for the Crown, contended that the decision of the Minister of Immigration to dismiss the appeal was merely done in the course of his ministerial duty, and so such was legal and valid.

ORDER NULLIFIED

Harry Walsh, counsel for Leshchenko, claimed the decision not to permit the appeal was based on "a decision of a judicial nature" and the order dismissing the appeal on a Sunday was "an absolute nullification, as Sunday was a day on which court proceedings are not recognized."

Leshchenko has been held in nearby Headingley jail since April 21, on a charge of entering Canada illegally by misrepresentation. A board of inquiry issued the deportation order April 25. At the time of his arrest in Calgary, April 19, authorities said Leshchenko had admitted a career as a Soviet spy.

SAID DEFECTIVE

Mr. Walsh said that the order for apprehension, filed in court, did not designate any place of detention. He argued that this made it defective because the Immigration Act specifies that a person apprehended must be taken to a place designated in the Act. Mr. Walsh also based his defence on three other major points:

1. That Leshchenko was not allowed counsel;
2. That an appeal taken from the order for deportation was not validly disposed of since the order dismissing it came on May 29, a Sunday and a day on which court proceedings are not recognized;
3. That some of the testimony given before a board of inquiry had not been interpreted to Leshchenko.

IMMIGRANTS PLACED

WINNIPEG (CP).—Between 600 and 650 displaced persons from Europe have arrived in Manitoba in the last two months. Most of them have been placed on bettering areas around Winnipeg and the majority are family groups.

Mystery Surrounds Death Off Nanaimo

NANAIMO, July 6.—William Peach, a fisherman here for 19 years, whose lifeless body was found doubled up on the floor of his fishing boat, Joseph Point, off Piper's Lagoon, at 9:30 a.m. last Monday, was seen fishing 30 minutes previously.

The foregoing evidence was given at Coroner W. H. Jones' inquest in city police court Wednesday afternoon by another fisherman, Donald William Gilmour.

Gilmour told of passing Peach in the Joseph Point near Five Finger Islands in the Gulf of Georgia around 9 a.m. Peach was trolling. Gilmour, a dog salmon fisherman at the time, considered it to rough for him. He went near Piper's Lagoon and cooked breakfast. He was surprised to see the Joseph Point beached so soon afterward.

Coroner Jones' verdict was death due to natural causes and by misadventure.

BOY FINDS VESSEL

Mr. Ford purchased the Review from H. J. McIntyre in 1944. Sale to Mr. Rivers was made for reasons of health. Mr. and Mrs. Ford will spend an extended holiday in the Interior of the Province.

Galiano Loses Island Pioneer

GALIANO ISLAND, July 6.—Funeral services were held last Monday for the late George Georgeson, an Indian known to residents as "Uncle George." He was the youngest son of the late Henry Georgeson, who settled on Galiano Island in 1858.

Mr. Georgeson was born on the island in 1873, and spent several years on Mayne Island assisting his father to operate the light-house. He donated land for development of a cemetery on Galiano Island. Rev. James Dewar of Orange, Salt Spring Island, officiated at funeral services.

Ladysmith Resident Recalls Old Times

LADYSMITH, July 6.—James B. Weir, a resident of Ladysmith since 1899, will celebrate his 85th birthday on Thursday. Mr. Weir, a ship's carpenter by trade, came here to help build the coaling wharf and bunkers for James Dunsmuir, and remained to become foreman of construction. He held that position for 20 years prior to his retirement in 1932.

part in those early days of construction, of whom he speaks in reminiscing, were Fred King, company surveyor, and Joseph Hunter, chief engineer on construction. There was also N. Segrain, on construction work, who had a log cabin, but generously gave it up to enable Mr. Weir to bring his wife and young son, Frank, from Victoria.

There were no houses then, just the bunkhouses and a few tents. Mr. Weir delights in talking of the early days, and generally starts off by saying "Did I ever tell you about the time . . . ?" He has a vivid memory. A story he enjoys is one about his chicken coop. When the townsite was being surveyed, the Honor Medal presented by the Esquimalt P.T.A. recently for being the most
